Reading Passage

Emma called Lisa immediately.

"Can you hold on for a second?" Lisa said while opening the door for her guests. When Lisa came back, Emma explained the situation and said, "Please excuse me. I really wanted to come."

Lisa understood her friend. "Don't worry," she replied. "Family comes first." The next day, Emma visited Lisa with a small gift. They laughed, played games, and had fun together. Lisa said, "Thank you for keeping your promise to visit me."

Emma smiled and said, "True friends always back up each other." As they were talking on the phone later that evening, Lisa said, "I have to hang up now because my mum is calling me."

Emma laughed. "Okay! Hang on, I'll send you the party photos first!" Their friendship became even stronger because they always trusted and supported each other.
